SOUNDS LIKE A TYPICAL DAY AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY, RIGHT?

Sure—but these requests came from our community members serving time in Canadian prisons. Meeting these simple requests for information, books and library services can be difficult, even though access to information, knowledge, books and a library is a basic right. A right that now has its own nationally recognized statement: Prison Libraries Network: The Right to Read. (The full text of the statement appears on page 17)